

Student Services and Amenities Fee (SSAF) 2016 Report

What is SSAF?

From January 2012, Australian higher education providers began charging students a compulsory fee to support services and amenities of a non-academic nature. The Student Services & Amenities Fee (SSAF) is designed to improve non-academic services and amenities for students, such as recreational activities, employment assistance, financial or legal advice, child care, and food catering, through increased funding. It was introduced through the Higher Education Legislation Amendment (Student Services and Amenities) Act 2011, which was passed by the Australian Parliament in October 2011.

What can we spend SSAF on?

The Higher Education Legislation Amendment (Student Services and Amenities) Act 2011 specifies the services on which the funding can be applied, as outlined below. The Act also stipulates that the university must adhere to the Student Services, Amenities, Representation and Advocacy Guidelines which set benchmarks for student access to services such as health and welfare information, advocacy and orientation programs. The SSAF can be spent on the following services:

- providing food or drink to students on a campus of the higher education provider;
- supporting a sporting or other recreational activity by students;
- supporting the administration of a club most of whose members are students;
- caring for children of students;
- providing legal services to students;
- promoting the health or welfare of students;
- helping students secure accommodation;
- helping students obtain employment or advice on careers;
- helping students with their financial affairs;
- helping students obtain insurance against personal accidents;
- supporting debating by students;
- providing libraries and reading rooms (other than those provided for academic purposes) for students;
- supporting an artistic activity by students;
- supporting the production and dissemination to students of media whose content is provided by students;
- helping students develop skills for study, by means other than undertaking courses of study in which they are enrolled;
- advising on matters arising under the higher education provider's rules (however described);
- advocating students' interests in matters arising under the higher education provider's rules (however described);
- giving students information to help them in their orientation; and
- helping meet the specific needs of overseas students relating to their welfare, accommodation and employment.

The funding must not be spent on supporting a political party or the election of a person as a member of a political party at any level of government.

How much SSAF was collected in 2016?

A full time student in 2016 paid a maximum of $290. SSAF is calculated by load therefore part-time students do not pay the full amount. Please refer to the Payment Information page on the University's website to view details of who paid the SSAF in 2016.

Total SSAF collected in 2016 was $5,370,521
