

As Australia's University of Enterprise, the spirit of enterprise runs through everything we do.

At UniSA, our research is inspired by challenges and opportunities, partnered with end-users and communities, and underpinned by excellence. Our initiatives are focused on real-world impact, entrepreneurship and commercialisation, through an interdisciplinary approach to research and research outcomes.

We take particular pride in our effective partnerships with end-users. We work collaboratively right from the conception of a research idea, allowing our research directions to be shaped by the opportunities and challenges our partners face.

Our key to success is how well we listen and understand fundamental drivers and issues. Through listening we create optimal research teams that deliver ground-breaking yet practical solutions.

UniSA's strong commitment to cutting-edge research and engagement with industry has been well recognised, with 100 per cent of our assessed research rated at or above world-class (2018 Assessed Detailed Fields, Excellence in Research for Australia [ERA]). We are also ranked No.1 in Australia for Research Impact and Engagement (2018 ARC Engagement & Impact Assessment). This is an impressive result for a young university and we are proud of our achievements.

As a university, we are also focused on extending our global reach and influence. We are building enduring and mutually beneficial relationships with our international partners and have a globally diverse research community.

Our researchers are actively encouraged to collaborate with international academic partners and our transformed PhD also draws participation from leading international researchers into postgraduate research training.
