

Newly Appointed Professional Staff:

A QUICK GUIDE

University of South Australia

People Development and Performance

Congratulations on your appointment to the University.

Your first few days as a new staff member can be exciting and daunting but also frustrating. The most frustrating aspect is usually not knowing how the University operates and where to find information.

This is because we are a large and complex institution with thousands of people involved in keeping us moving. A series of induction resources have been developed to help fill the gaps in your knowledge relatively quickly so you can concentrate on the pleasure of becoming a part of the UniSA community.

This Quick Guide for new professional staff provides answers to some of the initial questions you might have as you commence work with the University. It is complemented by an Induction website and handbook, and other Quick Guides that will help you find your way through the organisation in the first few weeks of your employment.

At the University of South Australia we want our new staff to feel welcome and appropriately introduced to both the organisation and to its people.

If you have any questions regarding your induction please speak with your supervisor or contact People, Talent and Culture.
