

2021 UniSA Teaching Awards

Information Sheet

The University of South Australia's Teaching Awards recognise and reward excellence in university teaching.

These competitive awards are recognized annually across four categories:

- Yaitya Tirka (Aboriginal Learning) Award
- UniSA Citations for Outstanding Contributions to Student Learning
- UniSA Citations for Outstanding Contributions to Digital Learning
- UniSA Awards for Teaching Excellence

Key dates

The 2021 UniSA Teaching Award applications are due 5pm Friday 29 October 2021

All finalised materials to be emailed as attachments to teaching.awards.grants@unisa.edu.au

Check with the 2021 awards and grants calendar for any updates to this advice.

Application advice and further information

Remember, start your preparation early! Preparing your award and citation materials is a scholarly activity which takes time and planning.

An Academic Developer from the Teaching Innovation Unit can:

- provide you with examples of successful applications,
- facilitate mentoring relationships with previous awardees and/or Academic Developers,
- provide you with details of local and University-wide workshops on developing your application,
- discuss the focus of your application and types of evidence (e.g. of student learning)
- required to support your claims, and
- provide feedback on your draft application.

For advice and assistance in any of the areas listed above, contact a TIU Academic Developer or book an online Academic Developer consultation).

For detailed information about these awards and how to apply, see the UniSA Teaching Awards website: <https://i.unisa.edu.au/staff/teaching-innovation-unit/grants--awards/teaching-awards/unisa-teaching-awards/>

For further information, contact Dr Ruth Fazakerley, Teaching Innovation Unit.